DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Amendment filed on 3/7/03.

Claims 1-25 are cancelled by the Amendment filed on 3/15/01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1 & 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1 line 9 and claim 33 line 7, the recited limitation " within the one well" is indefinite. The limitation should be changed to --within at least one well-- .

In claims 1 & 33, the term -- received-- should be changed to -- formed--.

Appropriated correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 26,27,31,32,33,36,37,54,55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being Kwok et al. (U.S. 5,770,499) .

Kwok et al. disclose a capacitor array structure for high density memory applications, which include:

-Re. claims 26 & 33: a substrate 102; a plurality of word lines 104; an insulative layer 170 formed over the word lines and the substrate, the insulative layer having at least one well 180 formed therein (fig. 18), the well comprising a base formed over the word lines 104, the well periphery 182 defining an outline of a memory area and area peripheral to the well comprising memory peripheral circuitry area; a plurality of memory cell storage capacitors formed within the well over the word lines (fig. 18, col.5, lines 49-65), wherein the peripheral circuitry within the peripheral circuitry area operatively configured to write and read from the memory array (col.1, lines 30-34).

-Re. claim 27: wherein the base is planarizing (col.5, lines 54-57).

-Re. claims 31,32,36,37,54 & 55: wherein the insulative layer has a substantially planar outermost surface and the capacitors have capacitor storage node electrodes having topmost surfaces formed elevationally proximate the substantially planar outermost surface of the insulative layer (col. 6, lines 6-43, fig. 8).

-Re. claims 48 & 51: wherein the insulative layer 110, 170 & 172 comprises silicon oxide and silicon nitride (col.6, lines 13-16).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 28-30,34,35,49,50,52 & 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kwok et al. (U.S. 5,770,499).

Kwok et al. disclose substantially all claimed invention, except for the location distance between the well and digit lines, and the insulating layer thickness.

With respect to claims 28-30,34,35,49,50,52 & 53 the location, concentration, cycles thickness are considered to involve routine optimization while has been held to be within the level of ordinary skill in the art, As noted In re Aller 105 USPQ233, 255 (CCPA 1955), the selection of reaction parameters such as temperature and concentration would have been obvious.

"Normally, it is to expected that a change in temperature, or in range, concentration, cycles, dimension, thickness, would be an unpatentable modification. Under some circumstance, however, changes such as these may be impart patentability to a process if the particular ranges claimed produce a new and unexpected result which is different in kind and not merely degree from the results of the prior art ... such ranges are termed "critical ranges and the applicant has the burden of proving such criticality ... More particularly, where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation." In re Aller 105 USPQ233, 255 (CCPA 1955). See also In re Waite 77 USPQ 586 (CCPA 1948); In re Scherl 70 USPQ 204 (CCPA 1946); In re Irmischer 66 USPQ 314 (CCPA 1945); In re Norman 66 USPQ 308 USPQ 308 (CCPA 1945); In re Swenson 56 USPQ 372 (CPA 1942); In re Sola 25 USPQ 433 (CCPA 1935); In re Dreyfus 24 USPQ 52 (CCPA 1934)
